Terms of Use

Fluxline Resonance Group, LLC, doing business as Fluxline
Version: 2.0
Effective Date: November 20, 2026
Last Updated: November 20, 2026
Replaces: Terms of Use effective November 6, 2026

These Terms of Use ("Terms") are the agreement between you and Fluxline Resonance Group, LLC, doing business as Fluxline ("Fluxline," "we," "us," or "our") for your use of our websites, web applications, accounts, store, apps, digital products, programs, AI features, and professional services (together, the "Services"). By accessing or using the Services, creating an account, or buying anything from us, you agree to these Terms and to our Privacy Policy. If you do not agree, please do not use the Services.

Section 20 requires mediation and individual arbitration and includes a class-action waiver. You may opt out of arbitration and the class-action waiver within 30 days (Section 20.9). Please read Section 20.

1. Agreement and Scope

1.1 What these Terms cover. These Terms apply to Fluxline.pro and our related sites, the Fluxline account and store, the RCF AI Companion, Fluxline apps, digital books and programs, and consulting, design, development, training, wellness, and coaching services.

1.2 Documents that work together. These Terms work with the following documents, each of which is part of your agreement with us where it applies:

- The Privacy Policy, which explains what we collect, what we do not keep, and your choices.
- The RCF Preorder Terms, which apply to any preorder.
- The Responsible AI Usage policy, which explains how we use AI and how our AI features behave.
- The Personal Training and Wellness Informed Consent, Assumption of Risk, and Liability Waiver, which applies to any physical training or wellness coaching client.
- Any statement of work, client agreement, or invoice for professional services.
- Any product-specific terms shown to you at purchase or at first use of an app or program.
- The Glossary of Terms on our Legal page (fluxline.pro/legal), which explains the Fluxline vocabulary used across these documents. It explains words and adds no obligations.

Our Stewardship Charter describes the standards Fluxline holds itself to in serving you. It is a public statement of our commitments. It is not part of your agreement with us and is not one of the documents listed above.

1.3 If documents conflict. If a product-specific term, the RCF Preorder Terms, or a signed agreement conflicts with these Terms, that more specific document controls for that product or engagement. Otherwise these Terms control.

2. Eligibility and Accounts

2.1 Adults only. Every Fluxline service is for people who are 18 or older. We write all of our content for adults. You may not use the Services if you are under 18.

2.2 Your confirmation. By creating a Fluxline account or making a purchase, with or without an account, you represent and warrant that you are at least eighteen (18) years of age. The first time you check out with your Fluxline account, unless you have already confirmed, you confirm this with the following attestation: "By creating an account, you represent and warrant that you are at least eighteen (18) years of age, or the age of majority in your jurisdiction, and that the information you provide during registration is accurate and complete." We store only that confirmation (a yes flag and the date you gave it) on your account. We do not ask for or store your birthdate anywhere. If you check out as a guest, you see this notice instead: "Access to this service is intended for individuals eighteen (18) years of age or older. By proceeding, you confirm that you meet this requirement." A signed-in account that has already confirmed sees a reminder, not a repeated checkbox: "This store is for adults eighteen (18) years of age or older. Your Fluxline account already confirms this." If we cannot verify your account's confirmation at the moment of purchase (for example, a temporary service outage), we treat you as not yet confirmed and show you the checkbox again rather than letting the purchase through unconfirmed.

2.3 If we learn someone is under 18. If we learn that an account belongs to someone under 18, we will close the account and refund any purchase.

2.4 Your account. You can sign in with Microsoft, Google, or an email one-time code through our account service. You are responsible for keeping your sign-in methods secure and for activity under your account. Tell us promptly at support@fluxline.pro if you suspect unauthorized use. Please give us accurate information when you create an account or buy something.

2.5 When an account is required. Some purchases allow guest checkout. Anything that includes the RCF AI Companion requires a Fluxline account.

3. What We Offer

3.1 Digital products. Digital editions of The Resonance Core Framework™ and related materials, such as the eBook, Workbook PDF, and Audiobook, sold through our store.

3.2 RCF AI Companion. A paid question-and-answer study tool grounded in the book (see Section 9).

3.3 Fluxline apps. Apps that we publish under the Fluxline name. Each app may have its own product-specific terms, which apply in addition to these Terms. App names are deliberately left out of this document until each app launches.

3.4 Programs and courses. Structured programs such as Identity in Motion.

3.5 Professional services. Business consulting; web and app development; brand and experience design; education and training; personal training and wellness; and life coaching (Resonance Core).

3.6 Content. Our podcast, blog, press releases, and other published material.

3.7 Sold by others. Printed editions, Kindle editions, and audiobook and eBook listings on other platforms are sold by third-party retailers such as Amazon, Audible, and Apple Books, and by bookstores through IngramSpark distribution. Those retailers' terms govern those purchases, not these Terms.

4. Digital Products and Licensed Use

4.1 A license, not a sale. When you buy a digital product, you receive a personal, non-exclusive, non-transferable license to use it for your own private reading, listening, and study. You do not receive ownership of the work or any right to copy it for others.

4.2 Personalized files. The eBook and Workbook PDFs we deliver are stamped on every page with your name, email address, and order number. The Audiobook and other files are likewise issued to you personally. You may not share, post, upload for others, resell, or give away your files, and you may not remove the stamps.

4.3 No AI training or extraction. You may use our digital products for your own personal reading, study, and comprehension, including through accessibility features or assistive tools that read, display, or adapt the content for you as the individual purchaser. You may not copy, aggregate, index, or feed the material into any AI model, searchable database, or automated system, whether commercial or non-commercial and regardless of scale. Assistive tools used under this exception must not retain, extract, or transmit the content in a form capable of being used for model training or dataset construction. All rights not expressly granted are reserved, and no right to use the material for training any AI model is granted.

4.4 Delivery. Release-day files are delivered to your email and to your account library. Download links are private and expire after a short time (currently 15 minutes). A fresh link is always available from your account or delivery email. Each file may be downloaded up to 5 times (we may raise this on request through support).

4.5 Early-reading sample. A preorder includes a personalized early-reading sample, issued once per email address. You may keep the sample after a cancellation.

4.6 Device and format. We cannot promise that every file will work on every device or reading app. Contact support@fluxline.pro if a file will not open.

4.7 What a refund does to your license. If you are refunded, your license ends and we delete your personalized release files. We keep the download records for that order as evidence in case of a payment dispute.

5. Preorders

5.1 What a preorder is. A preorder is a purchase of a digital edition before its release. Your card is charged on the day you place the order. You may cancel the whole order for a full refund until February 1, 2027. The expected release window is late February to mid-March 2027, and it is subject to change.

5.2 Preorder Terms control. The RCF Preorder Terms set out the full rules for preorder pricing, delivery, cancellation, refunds, delays, the First-Year Pass, and renewal. Where they differ from anything in these Terms, the RCF Preorder Terms control for preorders.

6. Prices, Payment, and Taxes

6.1 Currency and pricing. Prices are in U.S. dollars and are shown before you pay. Pricing for a product is the price displayed at checkout on the day you buy.

6.2 Fluxline checkout. Our default checkout is run by our payment processor, with Apple Pay and Google Pay available. Payment details are handled by the processor.

6.3 App stores. Where an app can also be bought through the Apple App Store or Google Play, that in-app purchase may cost more than buying through Fluxline, because the platforms charge fees. We say so plainly at the point of choice. Refunds for App Store and Google Play purchases are issued by Apple or Google under their own policies, not by Fluxline. Our refund standard in Section 8 does not apply to those purchases. Microsoft Store purchases are priced the same as Fluxline checkout.

6.4 Taxes. Prices do not include any sales, use, or similar taxes unless we say they do. Applicable taxes are shown before you pay.

6.5 Professional services. Fees for professional services are set out in your agreement, statement of work, or invoice. Late payments may incur interest at the rate stated in your agreement, or the maximum rate permitted by law if none is stated, and we may suspend services until the balance is paid.

6.6 Errors. If we charge you in error or charge you twice, we will refund the charge.

7. Subscriptions and Automatic Renewal

7.1 Subscriptions. A subscription continues for its term and renews for another term of the same length at the then-current price, unless you cancel. We disclose the price, the term, the renewal date, and how to cancel before you subscribe.

7.2 Your agreement to renew. When a purchase includes automatic renewal, you will see a separate renewal consent at checkout. A one-time purchase does not renew unless you separately and clearly opt in.

7.3 Advance notice. Before an annual renewal, we send a renewal notice by email and show the same notice in the product at least 15 days before the charge. We also send a short reminder about 3 days before the charge.

7.4 How to cancel. You can cancel in one step from your account on every platform where we sell, including the web. We do not use save offers, discounts, surveys, or other obstacles in the cancellation flow.

7.5 What cancellation does. After the refund window described in Section 8 has passed, cancelling stops the next charge. You keep access through the end of the period you have already paid for. We do not prorate the remainder.

7.6 Price changes. If we change the price of a renewing subscription, we will tell you in the renewal notice before you are charged.

7.7 Lifetime purchases. "Lifetime" means for the lifetime of the product, not for your lifetime. We show this definition next to every Lifetime price before you buy. If we discontinue a Lifetime product, we will give you at least 90 days' notice and offer you a comparable replacement. If you would rather have a refund, we will refund a pro rata share of the price you paid, based on a 5-year period from your purchase. For example, if a Lifetime product is discontinued 2 years after you bought it, we refund 60 percent of the price you paid.

8. Refunds

This is the Fluxline Refund and Cancellation Standard, and it is the same across Fluxline apps and services that we sell directly.

8.1 First purchase. You may have a full refund within 30 days of your first annual or Lifetime purchase, or within 7 days of your first monthly purchase. We do not ask why.

8.2 Renewals. You may have a full refund within 7 days after any renewal charge.

8.3 After the window. Cancelling stops the next charge. You keep access through the period you paid for. We do not prorate.

8.4 Always refunded. We always refund purchases made on an account that belongs to someone under 18, and any duplicate or erroneous charge.

8.5 Preorders. Preorders follow the cancellation and refund rules in the RCF Preorder Terms. Those rules apply to the whole order and replace Sections 8.1 to 8.3 for that order.

8.6 Platform purchases. Purchases through Apple or Google follow their refund policies (see 6.3).

8.7 Professional services. Refunds for consulting, design, development, training, personal training and wellness, and coaching are governed by your agreement, statement of work, or invoice.

8.8 How refunds arrive. Refunds go back to the original payment method. A refund can take up to 10 business days to appear on your statement. If an automatic refund fails, our team will be notified and will contact you within 10 business days.

8.9 Your legal rights. Nothing in this Section limits any right you have under law that cannot be waived.

8.10 App-specific provisions. Some apps include additional refund provisions in their own terms. Where an app's terms are more generous than this Section, the more generous term applies for that app.

9. RCF AI Companion

9.1 What it is. The RCF AI Companion is a study tool for readers of The Resonance Core Framework™, First Edition. You ask a question, and it answers from the book, with chapter and section citations. For Workbook owners, it can also draw on the Workbook. If the book does not say something, the Companion says so. The Companion uses generative AI, and every Companion chat tells you so.

9.2 What it is not. The Companion is not a coach, therapist, doctor, lawyer, financial advisor, or personal companion. It does not give personal advice, and it does not have a personality. It informs. You decide.

9.3 Do you need the book? No. Owning the book is recommended but not required to use the Companion. Workbook passages are available only to Workbook owners. Looking up a term in the Companion's glossary is free, does not count against your daily or monthly limits, and does not involve an AI model.

9.4 Plans. The Companion comes in two plans.

- Map is the base plan. It is sold in the store, either as a one-time First-Year Pass during the preorder or as a yearly plan after launch. Map includes up to 100 answers per day and 1,000 per month.
- Atlas is an upgrade to Map for heavy users, with up to 500 answers per day and 2,500 per month. It is not sold in the store. It is offered inside a Fluxline app or the Fluxline site when you reach a Map limit. Atlas lasts as long as the Map it upgrades. During a First-Year Pass year, the upgrade price is prorated to the end date of the pass.

Current prices are shown at checkout and at the upgrade prompt. The Refund and Cancellation Standard in Section 8 applies to Map renewals and to Atlas charges.

9.5 First-Year Pass. The First-Year Pass is a one-time payment, not a subscription. Nothing renews automatically. After launch, you may choose to continue for another year, with its own consent. See the RCF Preorder Terms for how the pass starts, ends, and renews.

9.6 Where it is available. The Companion is available only in the United States at launch. In these Terms, the United States means the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, and the Northern Mariana Islands. We require a billing address in one of those places to purchase the Companion or any product that includes it, and we do not accept APO, FPO, or DPO addresses for it. We show this limit next to the price. If you move outside the United States, the Companion is not available to you while you are outside it, and moving does not by itself entitle you to a refund. If we cannot offer it where you are, we will say so.

9.7 Your account and age. The Companion requires a Fluxline account with the 18+ confirmation from Section 2.

9.8 How your questions are handled. Fluxline does not retain your questions or answers. They are processed in memory. Our AI provider, Microsoft Azure, keeps temporary automated abuse-detection logs (up to 30 days) under its policy, as described in the Privacy Policy. Before a question is answered, we remove personal identifiers we can detect and the request passes through our governance system. We never use your questions to train or tune any AI model. Please do not type personal or sensitive information into the Companion. No filter is perfect. The Privacy Policy explains the full details, the limited exceptions, and where processing happens.

9.9 Reporting an answer. You may choose to report a particular answer. If you do, we keep that question, that answer, and a reference ID for 30 days, encrypted, so we can review it, and then delete it. A report is never linked to your account, which means we cannot reply to the person who reported it. Reporting is optional and applies per answer.

9.10 Accuracy. The Companion uses AI to find passages and compose short answers. No person reviews an answer before you see it. Answers can be incomplete or wrong. Treat the book as the authority and use the citations to check.

9.11 Safety and crisis. If a question suggests that someone may be at risk, the Companion shows a fixed message that was written and reviewed by clinicians, and it does not generate that message. Fluxline is not an emergency or crisis service. If you or someone else is in immediate danger, contact your local emergency services.

9.12 Fair use. The Companion is for your personal, non-commercial study. You may quote short passages with attribution. You may not scrape it, extract the book in bulk, automate access, share your account, resell access, bypass limits, or try to make it ignore its rules (see Section 14). We cap answer quotations and may rate-limit, suspend, or end access if we detect extraction.

9.13 Availability and changes. The Companion runs through our governance system on every request. If that system or a required service is unavailable, the Companion is unavailable (it fails closed rather than answering without checks). We may change models, retrieval settings, or features to keep answers accurate and safe. We do not guarantee uninterrupted service.

9.14 In other Fluxline apps. If the Companion is offered inside another Fluxline app, the same limits, privacy handling, and this Section apply. A Companion plan you hold unlocks it across the apps you use. Bundled access runs at Map usage.

10. AI in the Services, and No Professional Advice

10.1 Two kinds of AI use. (a) We use AI tools to help prepare our own content and deliver our services, and a person reviews that work before it is published or delivered. (b) Some features, such as the RCF AI Companion and optional AI features in our apps, produce answers for you on request. A person does not review those answers before you see them. The Responsible AI Usage policy explains both.

10.2 People decide. AI is a tool. It can inform and assist. You are responsible for your own decisions. Fluxline stays accountable for how we use AI.

10.3 Limits. AI output can be inaccurate, incomplete, or out of date. Check anything that matters.

10.4 Your control in apps. In Fluxline apps, cloud AI is optional and turns on only when you choose it, and you can turn all AI off with the AI Kill Switch. Details are in each app's terms and in the Privacy Policy.

10.5 No professional advice. Fluxline does not give medical, mental health, legal, financial, or tax advice. Our content, programs, apps, and AI features are educational and experiential. Personal training and wellness services are not medical care, and coaching is not therapy. Please consult a licensed professional for those decisions. Where a topic may call for professional advice, our tools may show a referral notice.

11. Professional Services

11.1 Separate agreements. Consulting, design, development, training, wellness, and coaching are provided under a client agreement, statement of work, or invoice that describes scope, fees, and timelines.

11.2 No guarantee of results. We bring care and skill, and we cannot guarantee specific outcomes. You stay responsible for your own decisions, actions, and results.

11.3 Your part. You agree to give honest and timely information, take part as agreed, and pay as agreed. We agree to deliver as agreed, communicate proactively, and treat you with respect.

11.4 Personal training and wellness. Talk to a qualified health professional before starting any exercise or nutrition program. Before your first personal training or wellness session, you will be asked to review and sign, electronically or in person, a separate Informed Consent, Assumption of Risk, and Liability Waiver specific to that service. Agreeing to these Terms does not sign it. That document, not this general clause, governs your assumption of risk for physical training and wellness activities.

12. Intellectual Property

12.1 Ownership. Fluxline Resonance Group, LLC owns the content, software, systems, frameworks, trademarks, and branding of the Services, including The Resonance Core Framework™, the Resonance Core, Activation Domains, the Decision Integrity Index, somatic and emotional ROI protocols, visual maps, written guides, eBooks, and training materials, whether created by Fluxline Resonance Group, LLC directly or assigned to it by Terence Waters or another contributor. These are protected by U.S. copyright, trademark, and other laws. All rights are reserved.

12.2 Trademarks. "Fluxline," including its logo and brand identity, "The Resonance Core Framework™," and related names and logos are trademarks of Fluxline Resonance Group, LLC. We use the ™ symbol until a registration certificate issues. Do not use our marks without written permission.

12.3 What you may do. You may use our materials for your own personal development, coaching, and education within the scope of your license. Attribution is required when you reference Fluxline frameworks in papers, articles, or other documentation.

12.4 What requires permission. Group facilitation, workshops, resale, redistribution, and derivative products require a separate written license. Ask at support@fluxline.pro.

12.5 Feedback. If you send us ideas or feedback, you let us use them without obligation to you.

12.6 Copyright complaints. If you believe content on the Services infringes your copyright, write to support@fluxline.pro.

13. Your Content

13.1 You own it. You own what you create or submit, including journal entries, goals, scores, notes, and questions ("Your Content").

13.2 Our limited license. To run the Services for you, you give us a non-exclusive, royalty-free license to host, process, and display Your Content, only for providing the Services to you. We do not sell Your Content. We do not use it to train or tune AI. We do not use it for advertising.

13.3 Local first. In apps designed to be local-first, Your Content stays on your device. Fluxline does not receive it unless you turn on a specific cloud feature or send us something yourself.

13.4 Backups and passphrases. Backups of Your Content are encrypted. We cannot open them and we cannot recover your passphrase. If you lose your passphrase, your backup cannot be opened by anyone, including us. You are responsible for keeping your passphrase and your backups safe.

13.5 Rules for Your Content. Do not submit content that is unlawful, infringes someone's rights, or harms others.

13.6 Testimonials and case studies. We may ask for feedback, testimonials, or case-study participation. Taking part is always voluntary.

14. Acceptable Use

You agree not to:

- Use the Services unlawfully or to infringe anyone's rights.
- Harass, abuse, threaten, or harm others, or post hateful or discriminatory content.
- Share your files, accounts, or access with others, or resell or redistribute our content.
- Scrape, bulk-extract, or systematically copy our content, or use bots or automated tools to do so.
- Try to get around usage limits, paywalls, safety checks, or age checks.
- Try to make an AI feature break its rules, reveal hidden instructions, answer outside its scope, or produce harmful content (for example, prompt injection).
- Try to gain unauthorized access, probe or test our systems without permission, or interfere with the Services.
- Upload malware or anything that disrupts the Services.
- Use the Services if you are under 18.

15. Privacy

Our Privacy Policy explains what we collect and keep, what we do not, and your rights. Our default is to keep as little as possible. Storing anything beyond what is needed to deliver your purchase is something you opt into, not something you opt out of. By using the Services, you agree that we may handle information as described in the Privacy Policy.

16. Third-Party Services

The Services may link to, or use, third-party sites and services such as payment processors, app stores, and cloud providers. Those services have their own terms and privacy policies. We are not responsible for their practices. A list of the providers that handle data for us is in the Privacy Policy.

17. Disclaimers

17.1 To the fullest extent the law allows, the Services are provided "as is" and "as available." We do not promise that they will be uninterrupted, error-free, or suited to your particular purpose.

17.2 Our tools and programs support growth and learning. We do not guarantee any specific result. You remain responsible for your own choices and outcomes.

17.3 Nothing in these Terms excludes any warranty or right that the law does not allow us to exclude.

18. Limitation of Liability

18.1 To the fullest extent the law allows, Fluxline is not liable for indirect, incidental, special, consequential, or punitive damages, or for lost profits or lost data, arising from your use of the Services.

18.2 Our total liability for any claim relating to the Services is limited to the amount you paid us for the specific product or service that gave rise to the claim in the 12 months before the claim. If you paid nothing, our total liability is limited to US$100.

18.3 Nothing in these Terms limits liability that cannot be limited by law, including liability for fraud or for gross negligence or willful misconduct, or any consumer protection that applies to you and cannot be waived.

19. Indemnification

You agree to cover reasonable losses we incur from third-party claims caused by your breach of these Terms or your violation of someone else's rights. We will tell you promptly of any such claim and let you take reasonable part in its defense.

20. Governing Law and Disputes

20.1 Talk to us first. If something goes wrong, email support@fluxline.pro. We will review your concern in good faith and try to resolve it with you within 30 days.

20.2 Mandatory mediation. Mediation is an express condition precedent to arbitration. If the informal process in 20.1 does not resolve the dispute within 30 days, the parties will attempt in good faith to resolve it through mediation administered by the American Arbitration Association, seated in Salt Lake County, Utah, for at least 30 days, before either party files a demand for arbitration, whether or not either party has demanded mediation. You may take part by video. Completion of mediation, or a good-faith attempt at it for at least 30 days without reaching agreement, is required before either party may begin arbitration under 20.4. Fluxline will pay the mediator's fees. This Section does not apply to claims brought under 20.7.

20.3 Governing law. These Terms are governed by the laws of the State of Utah and applicable federal law, without regard to conflict-of-law rules. Fluxline Resonance Group, LLC is based in Salt Lake City, Utah.

20.4 Binding arbitration. If mediation under 20.2 does not resolve the dispute, it will be resolved by final and binding individual arbitration administered by the American Arbitration Association under its Consumer Arbitration Rules, seated in Salt Lake County, Utah, and governed by the laws of the State of Utah, without regard to conflict-of-laws principles. You may take part by video if you prefer and the arbitrator agrees. Arbitration fees, including filing and arbitrator compensation, will be allocated according to the AAA's Consumer Arbitration Rules then in effect, which generally cap what a consumer may be required to pay and require Fluxline to bear the larger share of administrative and arbitrator costs.

20.5 Jury trial. For any claim that goes to arbitration under 20.4, you and Fluxline each waive the right to a jury trial, since arbitration resolves the claim in place of a court proceeding.

20.6 Class-action waiver. To the fullest extent permitted by law, you and Fluxline each agree that any dispute will be brought only in an individual capacity, and not as a plaintiff or class member in any purported class, collective, consolidated, or representative proceeding. The arbitrator may not consolidate claims or preside over any class or representative proceeding. This waiver does not prevent you from bringing a claim in small-claims court, and does not waive any right to seek public injunctive relief in a court of competent jurisdiction. If this waiver is found unenforceable for a claim, that claim proceeds in court, not in class arbitration.

20.7 What stays in court. Either party may bring an individual claim in the small-claims court covering your residence or Salt Lake County, Utah. Either party may ask a court for emergency relief to protect intellectual property or confidentiality. A claim for public injunctive relief may be brought in a court of competent jurisdiction.

20.8 California protections. Fluxline voluntarily follows California consumer protections as a floor, starting with subscriptions, automatic renewal, and fees. This is an operational commitment about how we treat customers, not an election of California law. It does not change the governing law, venue, or remedies set out in Section 20.3, and if anything here conflicts with Section 20.3, Section 20.3 controls.

20.9 Your right to opt out. You may opt out of the arbitration requirement in 20.4 and the class-action waiver in 20.6 by emailing support@fluxline.pro within 30 days after you first accept these Terms. Include your name, the email address on your account or order, and a clear statement that you opt out. If you opt out, disputes that are not resolved under 20.1 and 20.2 may be brought in a court of competent jurisdiction in Salt Lake County, Utah. Opting out does not affect the rest of these Terms.

21. Changes to These Terms

We may update these Terms. We will post the new version with a new date. For a material change, we will tell you by email or in the product at least 15 days before it takes effect. If you do not agree to the change, you may cancel and receive a refund of any prepaid, unused portion for the period after the change takes effect. Continuing to use the Services after the effective date means you accept the update.

22. Suspension and Termination

22.1 By you. You can stop using the Services and cancel at any time (see Sections 7 and 8).

22.2 By us. We may suspend or end your access if you breach these Terms, harm others, put the Services at risk, or if the law requires. Where we can, we will warn you first and explain why.

22.3 If we end your access without cause. If we end a paid service for reasons other than your breach, we will refund the prepaid, unused part.

22.4 What survives. Sections that by their nature should continue after termination (including ownership, licenses, disclaimers, liability limits, indemnity, and disputes) will continue.

23. Accessibility and Inclusion

We are committed to digital accessibility. Our target for web and apps is WCAG 2.2 AA. If you find a barrier, tell us at support@fluxline.pro and we will work with you on an alternative format.

We do not tolerate discrimination, harassment, or hate speech in our community or content. We welcome people of every background.

24. General

24.1 Severability. If any part of these Terms is unenforceable, the rest stays in effect.

24.2 Entire agreement. These Terms, with the documents listed in Section 1.2, are the entire agreement between you and Fluxline for the Services and replace earlier agreements about the same subject.

24.3 No waiver. If we do not enforce a right right away, we have not given it up.

24.4 Assignment. You may not transfer your rights under these Terms. We may transfer ours to a successor of our business, and we will tell you if that happens.

24.5 Electronic notices. You agree that we may give notices by email, in the product, or by posting on the Services.

24.6 Events beyond our control. We are not responsible for delays or failures caused by events beyond our reasonable control.
